[179] bangladesh ministry of labour conducted an exhaustive survey of the workforce throughout the country in 2013, which concluded that the industrywide rate of worker absenteeism was between 20 and 25%. the government also conducted several more targeted studies in 2014. for example, in its industry expert committee report on the operational review of textile industry sector in bangladesh, released on july 30, 2014, the government estimated that 22.6% of workers were absent in the textile industry in 2013. bangladesh labor commissioner abdul momen has also recently requested all factories to submit regular reports on absenteeism. since 2006, the bangladesh export processing zone corporation (bepza) has had a construction mission to involve private investors in the setting up of epzs. during the same period, it began to hold the epz master plan forum as a venue for discussions between private investors and the bangladesh government on the setting up of epzs. [217] bepza also has an information communication technology mission to promote e-commerce by increasing internet connectivity in the epzs. [218] prime minister sheikh hasina said, the government had made an agreement for bangladesh to get foreign direct investment of $200 million in the garment industry, with an aim to export $200 million worth of textiles and garments to several countries. [219] during a ceremony in new york in may 2014, the president of the united states, barack obama, announced a $20 million pledge to help bangladesh rebuild its garment industry. [220] on november 27, 2014, the guardian reported that the u.s. and bangladesh had agreed to offer assistance of $25 million to bangladesh to help it recover from a fire disaster that destroyed more than 1,100 factories last summer.
