How to Add Remote Control Systems to the Control Center - Problem: Sometimes, the only way to access files on the remote computer is via the remote control system (RCS). This is particularly true if you have multiple RCS systems in your office, which can be used to access the files stored on the other computers via the network. But the problem is that the RCS and the Remote Desktop client cannot be installed at the same time on the same computer. - Solution: You can use a third-party software like Remote PC Connector 2 for Windows (by Remote PC Connector 2) to add RCS systems to the Remote Desktop client. How to Use an External USB Audio Card as a Sonos Speaker - Problem: The Sonos speakers come with a built-in audio card that enables their use with a wide range of other devices. But what if you have an external USB audio card that you would like to use as a speaker? - Solution: You need to configure your Sonos speaker so that it accepts audio input from the USB card instead of the built-in audio card. This article shows how to do this. One of the most useful tools for Applets Developers is Resharper.
