GDF-15 protein induces programmed cell death in prostate cancer cells by inhibiting AKT/ERK signaling pathways. The growth differentiation factor-15 (GDF-15) is a multifunctional protein that can induce apoptosis in cancer cells by inhibiting AKT/ERK signaling pathways. However, the anti-cancer effects of GDF-15 on prostate cancer are still unclear. In this study, we showed that GDF-15 protein suppressed the proliferation and induced apoptosis in prostate cancer cell lines LNCaP and PC-3. GDF-15 protein increased caspase-3/7 activity. Further experiments indicated that GDF-15 protein down-regulated the expression of Bcl-2 and Bcl-xL, induced the release of cytochrome C into the cytosol and cleaved PARP. Meanwhile, the levels of p-AKT and p-ERK decreased, while the levels of AKT and ERK were not significantly altered. After treatment with the AKT inhibitor LY294002, and ERK inhibitor PD98059 or the combination of these inhibitors, the expression of apoptosis markers caspase-3, PARP, caspase-7, Bcl-2, Bcl-xL and the release of cytochrome C were recovered. Also, the results of immunohistochemistry showed that GDF-15 protein, AKT, and ERK expression were significantly up-regulated in prostate cancer tissues compared with that in the paracancerous tissues. The upregulation of GDF-15, AKT, and ERK expression was significantly negatively correlated with the expression of caspase-3, Bcl-2, and Bcl-xL in prostate cancer tissues. In conclusion, GDF-15 protein may induce apoptosis in prostate cancer cells by inhibiting the AKT/ERK signaling pathways, which might be a potential new therapeutic target for the treatment of prostate cancer.

Q: Convert.jar to.tar.gz I need help with a really hard problem. I can't use any of the unix commands and I'm working on Windows. 79a2804d6b
