Will I lose followers after I buy?

It's a possibility that some of the paid followers decide to unfollow your profile in the future. Generally speaking, if you buy cheap followers, you have more chances of them unfollowing your profile. While if you invest more money in legit social media marketing services that will get you authentic fans that are real human beings, very few people will unfollow over time. All the companies that sell social media-related services usually offer a refill guarantee or retention warranty, so if you lose some followers in the future, just send an email to their 24/7 customer support team and they will send you more for free.

which only takes 1 minute or so.

Yes. We only listed sites that offer both a money-back guarantee and a refill guarantee on this page. All sites will refund your money, no questions asked, if you are not satisfied with their services. Some sites offer a 7 days money-back guarantee, others offer 14 days and some even offer 30 days. As for the refill warranty, this means that if you bought followers and lose any of the paid followers in the future, they will refill them for you. This means that they will find new people that are interested in following your type of content. Some companies offer automatic refills, other companies need you to notify them by email or live chat and ask for the refill manually, which only takes 1 minute or so.

Can I also buy Instagram Likes, comments, and video views?

Yes. If you plan on buying Instagram followers, it is recommended that you also plan on buying Instagram likes, comments, and video views, to make sure that the number of followers and likes makes sense. Most companies selling followers also sell these other Instagram services, and we recommend getting all services from the same provider and not from different websites, as it makes it easy for both you and the company to track the orders and the refills, if needed, in the future. There's an article about this topic on Deccan Herald.(We've all seen some accounts on Instagram that have tens of thousands of people following them

But they only have around 10 likes per photo that they post

This obviously looks fake and is a great example of why you should be buying likes at the same time as purchasing followers. It makes your brand image more consistent on every post, and you can use the same strategy on other social networks as well. For example, if you decide to get more Twitter followers, you should get more likes and retweets as well. If you decide to get Facebook page likes, you should get Facebook post likes as well.

And last but not least, if you decide to get Youtube views, you should purchase Youtube likes, comments, and subscribers as well.)
