How to Play Assassin's Creed 4 Fleet Offline

Assassin's Creed 4: Black Flag is a popular action-adventure game that features naval combat and exploration. One of the game's features is Kenway's Fleet, a minigame that allows you to send captured ships on missions and battles to earn rewards and unlock new areas. However, Kenway's Fleet requires an online connection and a Uplay code to access, which can be frustrating for some players who want to play offline or don't have a stable internet connection. In this article, we will show you how to play Assassin's Creed 4 Fleet offline using some tips and tricks.

Use the Black Flag App

One way to play Kenway's Fleet offline is to use the Black Flag App, which is available for iOS and Android devices. The app allows you to manage your fleet from your smartphone or tablet, and syncs with your game progress when you connect online. To use the app, you need to sign in with your Uplay account and link it with your game. You can then access your fleet from the app and send ships on missions and battles. The app also lets you view treasure maps, check your stats, and get notifications when your ships return or encounter enemies. The app is free to download and use, but you need to have a Uplay code that comes with each copy of the game.

Use a Custom Server

Another way to play Kenway's Fleet offline is to use a custom server that mimics the online connection. This method requires some technical skills and may not work for everyone. You need to download a custom server program that can run on your PC and modify some files in your game folder. You also need to disable your firewall and antivirus software to avoid any interference. The custom server program will allow you to access Kenway's Fleet from your game without connecting to the internet. However, this method may not be legal or safe, as it involves downloading unofficial software and altering your game files. You may also risk losing your game progress or getting banned from Uplay if you use this method.

Conclusion

Kenway's Fleet is a fun and rewarding feature of Assassin's Creed 4: Black Flag, but it can be annoying for players who want to play offline or don't have a reliable internet connection. Fortunately, there are some ways to play Kenway's Fleet offline using the Black Flag App or a custom server program. However, these methods have their own drawbacks and risks, so use them at your own discretion. We hope this article helped you learn how to play Assassin's Creed 4 Fleet offline and enjoy the game more.

Use a VPN or Proxy

Sometimes, the reason why you can't access Kenway's Fleet online is because of your region or network settings. Some countries or ISPs may block or limit access to Ubisoft servers, preventing you from playing the minigame. In that case, you can try using a VPN or proxy service to change your IP address and bypass the restrictions. A VPN or proxy service will allow you to connect to a different server in another country or region, and mask your real location and identity. This way, you may be able to access Kenway's Fleet online and enjoy the minigame. However, this method may also have some drawbacks and risks, such as slower connection speed, higher cost, or legal issues. You should also be careful about choosing a reliable and trustworthy VPN or proxy service, as some of them may contain malware or spyware.

Wait for Ubisoft to Fix the Servers

The last resort to play Kenway's Fleet offline is to wait for Ubisoft to fix the servers and restore the online connection. Sometimes, the servers may be down for maintenance, updates, or technical issues, and there is nothing you can do about it. In that case, you can check the Ubisoft website or social media accounts for any announcements or updates on the server status. You can also contact Ubisoft support and report any problems or errors you encounter while trying to access Kenway's Fleet online. Hopefully, Ubisoft will fix the servers as soon as possible and allow you to play Kenway's Fleet offline again.
